*W*onderfull Propheſies, and general Obſervations upon the Year 1699.

BUT to the Matter in hand. The laſt quarter, or the beginning of this will contribute Juſtly to a general peace between the Chriſtians and the Turks, and Friendſhip between ſeveral Nations, for carrying on ſome great ends, which I incline to Conjecture to ſhew themſelves before the Summer Quarter be juſtly expired, whatever they may be, they will be attended with blows and bloody Noſes before their effects are over. I expect that either this quarter or the beginning of the next, will give an inſight unto ſome of theſe Predictions in my laſt years Almanack. And among the reſt, I cannot but perſwade my ſelf, That there will be about that time ſomething more than ordinary to do in France or Spain, but chiefly the former. And I verily believe, Notwithſtanding of the long Expectations had of his death, that the King of the Latter lives to ſee it.

The Spring and Summer in general, will ſupplie us with vanity of odd News, and much of it ſurpriſing too. And among the reſt, ſtrange debates about perſons, and things relating to Laws, Religion and Settlement, which for a time will unſettle things of the Nature, and beget uneaſie diſputes betwixt ſome Prince and his Clergy. HOWEVER HIS MAJESTY OF GREAT BRITTAIN is Highly Courted, and Honourablie Addreſt both at home, and from ſome of the moſt roping Neighbouring States: Yet I wiſh this Summer do not produce ſome Roguery, even in the City of London; At leaſt I doubt they will give uneaſineſs in their moſt National Counſels, if not worſe trouble in Flanders. And I think the Empire or Emperour of Germany will not be altogether free from ſome under hand dealings or Villanies, nor the Duke of Bavaria from ſome diſturbance, either in Health Mind or Body, or altogether.

May. The Configurations of the laſt Moneths *L*atter end, and beginning of this threatens Diſorders, Miſchiefs and Villanies of ſeveral kinds, and ſuch too as will prove of no ſmall Conſequences, to more places and People than one in Europe, and in particular, I doubt will more then a little concern even the City of London. Its twenty to one, but we ſhal about this time be made Senſible of ſome Popiſh or Jacobite Roguery, which for ſome Moneths paſt have been carried on in the dark, to undermine the Foundation of the preſent Government. This I believe will produce uneaſineſs, Diſturbance, Troubles, and Removals of ſeveral kinds, but in a more eminent manner in ſome of the Superior Station, if not Raptures alſo in the general Affairs of the World
